An Ethnic Twist

The first shopping complex in the capital city of Shah Alam still stands with a significant stance and a very evident ethnicity about it.

Kompleks PKNS Shah Alam used to be the only shopping place in Shah Alam for almost two decades until other malls were built in the 1990s.

Even today with new stylish and lavish shopping malls sprouting around the city, this complex still remains as an ideal place for a shopping fling.

Conveniently located smack in central Shah Alam, Kompleks PKNS is a sanctuary for window shoppers and hop-in customers alike. Everything at this mall is interesting and intricate enough to capture your attention.

Traditional Temptations

This mall offers your regular excellent fashion apparel and kidswear to consumer electronics and toys. While these generic items remain popular amongst shoppers, the specialty at this mall is definitely its traditional Malay items.

Most of the shops here offer traditional attire and specialized goods. This is your haven for baju melayu, kain songket, baju kurung, baju kebaya, kerongsangs, tudungs and selendangs.

Whether men, women or child, if the ready-made items aren't your thing, then you can opt to custom make and design your clothing here to suit your fancy right there and then. All you need to put together a traditional Malay wardrobe can be found here.

Also available here are traditional Malay herbs and medication like oils and teas. Nusa Herba™ Misai Kuching Organic Herbal Tea can be purchased at their outlet at this complex.

If you are planning a traditional Malay wedding this shopping complex is your one-stop shop for everything you need for that splendid occasion. Bunga telur, pelamin, mak andam, matching songket outfits, wedding consultants all live under this roof.

With the nyonya kebaya picking up in trend now, maybe updating your clothing line up with a number or two which you can pair off in a modern manner with jeans or pants might do you. Kompleks PKNS is exactly where you can go to fusion up your lifestyle.
