Tucked in little nooks and crannies at the corners you'll find more delectable options that will get you salivating. One level above, you'll find more restaurants bordering the balconies that overlook the tastefully decorated street below.

If your heart calls for a hearty western retreat, then opt for Italianis, Dome or TGIF's. If you're opting for a lighter in-between, try O'Briens Irish Sandwich Bar or Paddingtons House of Pancakes.

If Asian tingles your tastebuds, then swing through The Tarik Place, Charms or Hometown Kopitiam. Bees Bakery and Big Apple will satisfy your confectionery needs.

To top this huge dining scene, the well-planned al-fresco dining area ensures that comfort remains a high priority and as such is temperature-controlled utilizing state-of-the-art comfort cooling by a District Cooling Plant (DCP).
